

I firmly believe that XM radio provides excellent service to subscribers. We sign up for this service because of its current format that includes quality programming. Having instant traffic and weather should continue to be provided. XM radio is something that we pay for - it is not like standard broadcasting that is available free of charge over the airways. It provides many more choices for listening than any local station may provide. For those of us who travel, we can listen to the stations provided on XM radio, without having to constantly search for local stations everytime we pass through another town, which is distracting to the driver.
